“When stepping on to the field, or mounting an apparatus knowing I am representing my school I feel extremely proud and motivated to perform my absolute best.”

Leadership and Community Service: Austin has coached as well as been a captain of her gymnastics and sports teams. She was also the president of Argyle’s Schools for Africa Club and part of the Best Buddies Program. She has led campaigns on eliminating disability stereotypes and promoting anti-bullying.

Value of School Athletics: School athletics have helped make Austin an all-rounded individual and build psychological stamina. In addition, sports have helped develop her communication skills and further develop her coaching and athletic abilities.

Future Plans: Austin plans to be a goal keeper for the UVIC Vikes and earn a business degree. She hopes to lead an Environmental Technology Organization and pursue international careers.
