“School Sports have taught me discipline, teamwork, compromising, work ethic, how to be intuitive, sportsmanship, as well as setting goals for myself.”

Leadership and Community Service: Jayden was a member of LV Rogers’ Rec Leadership class for two years and helped promote physical activity by conducting skipping demonstrations throughout BC as a member of the Nelson Rhythm Ropers jump rope team in accordance with Jump Rope for Heart.

Value of School Athletics: Sports has taught Jayden important life skills such as personal goal setting. Her definition of a student athlete is someone that is academically and athletically well-rounded.

Future Plans: Jayden plans to go to university and become an engineer.
