News Release

Thursday, July 5, 2012

Surrey – On behalf of the Board of Directors of BC School Sports (BCSS) I am pleased to announce the appointment of Ms. Christine Bradstock as Executive Director for BCSS effective immediately.

As a former educator, Christine most recently worked for ProMOTION Plus as their Executive Director and at 2010 Legacies Now as Manager of Healthy Living Initiatives. She has been under contract with us for the last two months where she has demonstrated her strong management and leadership skills as well as expertise in stakeholder relations.

Christine comes to the Executive Director position of BCSS with a background as an athlete, coach, teacher, administrator, parent, and volunteer. After having competing in high school, university and nationally, she can still be found competing in masters' events today and is an inductee in the UBC Sports Hall of Fame.

When asked about her new position Christine said;

“Our years at high school mark some of the most formative and transforming years of our lives. I look forward to supporting and working with the school community to continue the positive impact that sport has for all participants; athletes, coaches, teachers, officials, families, fans, administrators and stakeholders. As we move into a new phase for sport in BC communication will be key to ensure participation and equity in sport for all.”

We wish Christine the best of luck as she utilizes her skills to support the BCSS membership and their commitment to provide students the opportunities to participate in School Sports.
